Have you ever seen anyone surfing? It looks like they are flying across the water on a magic board. One person who knows something about surfing is Bethany Hamilton.

She was born in Hawaii in 1990, and she is not only a surfer but also a sports hero. Both her parents are surfers, and she had them teach her when she was very young. When she was eight years old, she joined her first competition, and she knew she wanted to be a professional after that. So, she entered more events and even got the company Rip Curl to support her.

However, things changed in 2003. Hamilton was attacked by a shark when she was surfing. She lost her left arm and over 60% of her blood, and she almost died. Though most people would be scared to go back in the water, Hamilton was not. She went surfing again a month after everything happened. She never lost sight of her goal and kept competing. In 2007, she turned professional, and she came in second at the Billabong ASP World Junior Championship in Australia two years later.

Hamilton has even written a book about her experience and called it Soul Surfer. She is one of the world's top surfers and an inspiration to all.

The famous song "La Cucaracha (the cockroach)" is liked by people around the world. It's a story about a cockroach that lost its legs. Listening to the song makes people happy, but that is not the first thing that comes to mind when speaking of cockroaches.

The first thing most people think about is disease. They think of the germs that cockroaches carry. You might get sick if you eat food that has been touched by cockroaches. You wish you could kill them all when you see one in your house.

However, there are some interesting facts about cockroaches. You may think of them in a different way after reading these. A cockroach can live for up to a week without its head. It dies because it can't drink water. Also, cockroaches can run up to three miles an hour. What's more surprising, a one-day-old baby cockroach can run almost as fast as its parents. Still want to get them out of your place? In fact, we're living in their places. The cockroach family has been living on the Earth for more than 280 million years. They're one of the oldest insects on the Earth. They have longer history than humans. Maybe we are the ones that should move!
